Keynote Speakers

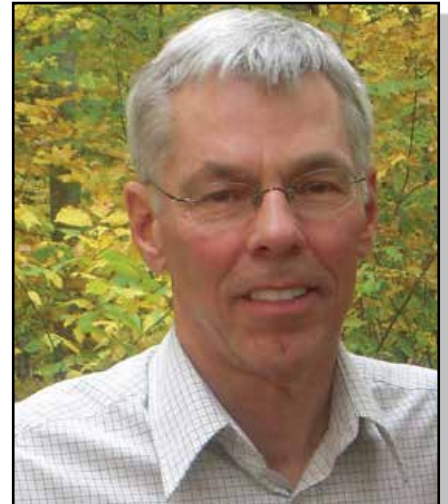

Allen Goben, Ed.D.
President
Tarrant County College
Northeast Campus

For nearly 30 years, Goben has been devoted to collaborative leadership and learning excellence as a faculty member, coach, college recruiter, counselor and administrator. He will be our Thursday evening keynote speaker.

Sara Klein
Art Educator
Amon Carter Museum
of American Art

Klein was the National Art Education Association's (NAEA) 2015 Western Region Museum Art Educator of the Year. She will speak and lead a tour for interested attendees on Friday.

J. David Hoeveler, Ph.D.
Professor of History
University of Wisconsin

A professor of history for 35 years, Hoeveler's work focuses on broad themes of thought and culture. He has written six books, which address the way ideas become a part of our culture. He will be our Saturday lunch speaker.

Conference Schedule

2 p.m. – 4 p.m.

Pre-Conference Workshop

Tarrant County College Mastery of Teaching Institute

Theresa Mouchayleh

Kelly Tribble

Colin Jenney

Holly Stovall

Designed as a Faculty Learning Community, the Institute is geared toward faculty who wish to research, implement and analyze results of a new pedagogical skill in their classroom or other student success topic. As educators, we know that learning communities are especially effective for our students; therefore, it makes sense that faculty can also benefit from the environment provided by a learning community devoted to pedagogical studies. Thus, the goal of the Mastery of Teaching Institute is for faculty participants to enhance pedagogical content knowledge and a deeper understanding of the relationship between knowledge of subject, pedagogy, students and curriculum as they apply to the enhancement of student understanding and learning. Learn how to develop a faculty research program that impresses the faculty, administrators, board members and the community.

Private Tour for CCHA SW Members

Limited shuttle available.
Meet: Hotel Lobby

Connecting Art and Humanities

During this VIP museum experience, gain access to museum spaces and art experts at two of Fort Worth's Cultural District art museums. At the Kimbell Art Museum, staffed discussions and activities will explore connections across the European art collection. At the Amon Carter Museum of American Art, participants will experience iconic artworks from the museum's collection like never before. The evening's adventures will culminate back at the Amon Carter with tasty treats and drinks under artist Gabriel Dawe's site-specific art installation Plexus No. 34.

A special thanks to Tarrant County College Northeast Campus Vice President, Jerry Zumwalt, for the generous donation to support the Amon Carter and Kimbell Museum tour and festivities!
