

CRT REGISTRATION IS NOW OPEN

The 5th Annual Culturally Responsive Teaching and Learning Conference

The 82 Percent: White Educators, Educators of Color, and Diverse Student Bodies

Thursday, March 21, and Friday, March 22, 2019

The Maritime Conference Center, Linthicum Heights, Maryland 21090
mccbwi.org

Pre-conference Train-the-Trainer CRT-L Institute

Wednesday, March 20, 2019

FEATURES:

Two conference keynotes,
presentations, workshops,
and student presentations

Keynote Speakers

Dr. Christopher Emdin

Associate professor in the department of Mathematics, Science, and Technology at Teachers College, Columbia University

Plan now to join us for a vibrant, informative discussion around Culturally Responsive Teaching and Learning (CRT-L). For educators and others in two and four year colleges and universities, K-12 institutions, and undergraduate and graduate students.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION FEES:

- $250 includes both conference days and meals
- $145 for one conference day
- $145 Students (for both conference days/$75 for one day)

Registration opens October 29, 2018. Visit: CRT-cc.org for conference details, to submit proposals and to register.

For CCBC faculty, student and staff registration visit the website for details.

PRE-CONFERENCE TRAIN-THE-TRAINER INSTITUTE

A full day of training in CRT-L. This special session will train educators outside CCBC interested in delivering training at their institutions.
See website for details and to register.

$125 for full day of training/meals

Conference contacts:

Conference Chair: Jadi Omowale

jomowale@ccbcmd.edu | 443.840.3336

Director Office of Intercultural Engagement: Tamisha Ponder

tponder@ccbcmd.edu | 443.840.1382

CRT-L Institute: David Truscello

dtruscello@ccbcmd.edu | 443.840.3901

Conference Assistant: Penny Sorrick

psorrick@ccbcmd.edu | 443.840.2123

Dr. Gretchen Rudham

Associate professor of English, teaching across both the Accelerated Learning and Honors programs at the Community College of Baltimore County